TRADE MARK

We realize that to-day every wise farm owner thoroughly investigates the tractors that are most suited to his needs—looks up their records, the men who built them, and the way in which he will be cared for after his machine is bought. And in this way he gets the one machine best suited to his needs. That's just the message we would like to give you—how the Fordson was built to meet actual farming conditions, how it did that before it was put on the market; how it has upheld the name "Ford" among 110,000 Fordson owners; how we do not lose sight of our customers' best interests after the tractor sale is made.

The story of our service—our method of providing for and taking care of all "Fordson" owner's needs in our territory is a vital consideration for you before you make your choice of machines.

All about the "Fordson" is a message well worth hearing—let us tell it to you in person.

THE THEATRE

Strand Theatre
One of the most amazing pieces of acting ever attempted on stage or screen is wonderfully presented in "The Penalty," from Gouverneur Morris remarkable story of the same title.

An actor will shave his head, or his mustache—or raise one—if it's needed in his role. They asked Lon Chaney, who has the part of "Blizzard" in "The Penalty," to get rid of his legs! And he did it. He is legless in the picture, stumping around with the agility of a permanent cripple.

But in order to do it he had to undergo the most trying, nerve-racking and painful contortions ever attempted for the amusement of the public. His own legs were turned back at the knees and strapped back to his hips and encased in a special form of boot that is familiar to everyone who has seen a man with both legs actually gone at the knees. So painful and trying was the experience that it was impossible for Mr. Chaney to work longer than fifteen minutes at a time.

Lon Chaney will be remembered as the fake cripple in "The Miracle Man." His work in that picture made him famous, but is considered nothing compared to his magnificent portrayal of the leading character in "The Penalty."

"The Penalty" is considered one of the really big pictures of the year, and is very highly recommended to theater-goers of Alma and vicinity.
